WELCOME MESSAGE

Dear Colleagues,

The Geneva University Hospitals (HUG) and Swisstransplant, the Transplantation Society of Switzerland, The International Society for Organ Donation and Procurement and The Transplantation Society are looking forward to hosting you in Geneva for the 14th Congress of the International Society for Organ Donation and Procurement (ISODP 2017).

We are planning scientific and educational programs to present the issues, ideas and innovations in organ donation and procurement in meaningful and accessible ways, to stimulate debate and discussion as well as to hear the best ideas from across Europe and the world. If you are involved or interested in organ donation and organ donation processes, you should not miss this event.

We are proud to have the beautiful city of Geneva, site of the World Health Organization, and especially the 'Centre International de Conférences de Genève' as Congress venue and the countryside of Switzerland as the backdrop.

The program offers a unique opportunity to reach several specialty audiences in one location. ISODP 2017 will offer your company access to delegates from all over the world. This diverse audience is on the cutting-edge of scientific advancement and an excellent target for your products and services. A full range of support opportunities have been developed in order to best support our industry partners. Various support options are listed in the following pages. To help you choose the most suitable opportunity, we invite you to contact our Secretariat. We suggest you to act promptly to have access to all the supporter's options and to take your place among industry.
